Board President Stan Neron asked Schools Superintendent, Dr. Olga Hugelmeyer, to begin the community announcements for the month of January. Mr. Neron asked that each Board Member step off the dais and join him in the front row of the meeting room.

Dr Hugelmeyer began by saying, that to commence our presentations this evening, we wish to express our profound gratitude to a remarkable group of individuals – the esteemed members of the Elizabeth Board of Education. These nine dedicated volunteers generously dedicate countless hours to ensure that every student in our district has the opportunity to thrive academically and personally.

In observance of School Board Recognition Month, we are honored to present a framed resolution signed by Governor Phil Murphy to each of our Board members as a token of our sincere appreciation for their unwavering leadership, tireless dedication, and the invaluable sacrifices they make in service of our students and schools.

Mr. Neron thanked Dr. Hugelmeyer for the framed resolutions and then stated that to conclude the presentations from our opening calendar this evening, he would like to share a video showcasing the continued partnership between the Elizabeth Police Department and Elizabeth Public Schools. In continuing with his youth mentoring initiative with Elizabeth Police Department Chief of Police Giacomo Sacca, Elizabeth Public Schools students will again have the opportunity to participate in valuable mentoring sessions.

Throughout the academic year, dedicated officers will engage with students from several district schools, guiding them in cultivating essential life skills such as patience and perseverance. Through engaging educational and interactive sessions, students will foster positive relationships, develop a strong sense of civic responsibility, and experience significant growth academically, socially, and emotionally.

At the conclusion of the video, Mr. Neron asked Mr. John Swisher a Partner with the District’s auditing firm Supple Clooney and Company to come forward to present the audit report for the 2023-2024 school year.” Mr. Swisher informed the Board that he was pleased to report that there were no findings in the Audit Report. The finding that had been reported in the prior year’s audit, with the calculation for the Food Services Enterprise Fund had been rectified through a corrective action plan. In addition, a review of the District’s Financial Reserves indicated that these Reserve accounts were being funded properly. Board

Board President Stanley Neron asked the Student Representative, Miss Jeissy Chavez, to present her report.

Good evening, Dr. Hugelmeyer, members of the Board of Education, and community members. My name is Jeissy Chevez, and I am honored to serve as the Student Representative for JVJ STEM Academy for the 2024-2025 academic year. In addition to my role as Student Government Secretary, I am a senior peer mentor and actively involved in various clubs, all of which have kept me deeply connected to the programs and activities at STEM. This year has been an exceptional year for JVJ STEM Academy, filled with meaningful initiatives that reflect our school’s commitment to both academic excellence and community engagement. We began the school year by organizing a “Pink Out” event along the Elizabeth River Trail in support of Cancer Awareness Month. It was heartwarming to see students and staff come together to participate, sharing personal stories that made the experience truly impactful.

Our school's focus this year has been to empower students to actively contribute to the community, help their peers, and prepare for a successful future. Some of our recent efforts include a Thanksgiving food drive, organized through the combined efforts of our Student Government, the Elizabeth Police Department PBA Local #4, the Elizabeth Education Association, and our Transition Program. The drive provided non-perishable food items to students and community members in need. Similarly, we held a Holiday Toy and Coat Drive, where students from both our main and annex buildings donated toys and coats to be given to anonymous students during the holiday season. At STEM, we believe that creating a safe, supportive, and inclusive environment is key to a successful academic experience.

As a relatively new school, STEM has been consistently finding new ways to improve school culture. We were recognized as one of only 30 Microsoft Incubator schools in the U.S., and we held our first-ever Black History Month tour last year. JVJ STEM has only improved since. Thanks to the work of our administrators and guidance team, we have developed several programs that help students thrive both academically and personally. One such initiative is our Senior Peer Mentor Program, which helps first-year students at the annex transition into high school by providing them with the tools and guidance they need to navigate their early years successfully. Another exciting development is our Agricultural Engineering Club, where students use indoor gardening systems to grow and harvest crops. The club, led by our dedicated educator Ms. Serralheiro, has received numerous grants to expand its operations, providing students with hands-on experience in agriculture. We also dedicated time during our Week of Respect to promote kindness, inclusivity, and respect across our school community. The week featured a variety of activities, including daily mystery guest speakers making announcements on respect, with prizes awarded to homerooms that correctly identified the speaker.

In addition to promoting health awareness, STEM also provides students with valuable academic opportunities. During Red Ribbon Week, our school hosted impactful health and wellness presentations, raising awareness about the dangers of drug abuse across all grade levels. Students were engaged and empowered to make informed choices about their health. We also welcomed college admission counselors to our school, offering students a chance to learn more about the college environment and the admissions process. This opportunity gave students a firsthand look at what their future could hold, helping them make more informed decisions about their post-graduation paths.

Elizabeth Public Schools' other high schools are also thriving with a variety of exciting and impactful events. Students at Thomas Jefferson Arts Academy recently participated in a successful Paint Night, where both students and adults created artwork based on themes like Pokémon and Starry Night. This creative event brought the community together while allowing participants to express their artistic talents. Additionally, Jefferson's production of Grease was a standout success. The cast performed the show first at local elementary schools, bringing the classic musical to younger students, and then staged the full production at their high school. The performance was a testament to the dedication and hard work of their talented theater students. At Thomas A. Edison Career and Technical Academy, students are actively participating in a community food drive. Anyone wishing to donate can contact the school's secretary. The collected food is shipped to School Seven and then sent to the Elizabeth Port Community Center, helping families in need this holiday season. Meanwhile, J. Christian Bollwage Finance Academy has been celebrating Muslim American Month with a variety of enriching activities. Students participated in a Geometric Art and Design contest, learned Arabic calligraphy, and enjoyed food from Islamic cultures. They also had the opportunity to experience costume henna tattoos and celebrated World Hijab Day by trying on hijabs, learning more about cultural traditions and fostering a greater sense of inclusion.

These activities reflect the vibrancy of our High School's as a whole and their commitment to providing students with enriching experiences that extend beyond the classroom. I'm proud to represent JVJ STEM Academy and share the exciting initiatives happening throughout Elizabeth Public Schools. Thank you again for allowing me to share all the wonderful and exciting activities Elizabeth High School students and teachers worked hard to organize.
